

HIGHLIGHTS OF CURRENT EVENTS

By BILL DENNIS

News emanating from the conference in Paris has been something less than cheerful for those who still maintain a faith in the United Nations Organization as a vehicle for world peace. Public opinion polls indicate an alarming trend among average citizens in this country to consider the UN a failure and to think of it in roughly the same category as the League of Nations.

While it is natural that the efforts of the Security Council and the General Assembly should attract the greatest share of publicity in the press, certain essential and very positive gains by other organizations within the UN framework should not be overlooked.

MAKE ADVANCES

The Student Faculty Council for UNESCO will observe UN week, beginning October 18, in an effort to acquaint students and the public with the progress made by the world organization.

The Council has arranged to present Eugene Staley, educational director of the World Affairs Council of Northern California, in an address on "The UN and economic advances in the less developed countries, especially Asia and the Far East." To any one not acquainted with Dr. Staley's work, let it be said that he is one of the best authorities on UNESCO in the United States.

MORE POSITIVE PUBLICITY

In this writer's opinion, more publicity should be placed on the positive gains made by the United Nations. While we are prone to see only the grim side of the efforts of the World Organization, we should recall that men of good will in all countries are going ahead making such groups as UNESCO a living example of world co-operation.

May we then dedicate this column to those who are working while we are doubting, and further invite every one to hear a really great authority on World Affairs, Wednesday, October 20, at 12:10 p.m., in Frederic Burk Auditorium. Everyone is invited.

Results of the first Phi Eta Chi student opinion poll on the question, "Could you make use of the library at any other time than it now is open?" have been compiled by Harry Karpilow and Bill Smith, chairmen of the poll, and now are ready for publication.

Of those questioned, 98 students replied in the affirmative; 228 in the negative. In other words, if these figures are indicative of a cross-section of the student body, not quite 30 per cent would use the facilities if they were made available.

Results have been turned over to Ruth Thomson, head of the psychology department, who submitted the question. She, in turn, will present the results to her department with the possibility of conducting an experiment to see what attendance might be if library facilities were available during the hours of 5 to 7 in the evening.

Card Holders Total 2465

The number of students holding student body cards had reached a mark of 2465, out of a total registration of 3500, Hank Marscheck, student body treasurer, announced Tuesday to the Board of Directors.

This is a better showing than at the same period last semester, as it almost is 73 per cent of the total enrollment, he said.

DRIVE TO RAISE MONEY

The Board also decided that a drive to raise money for the United Negro College Fund (UNCF) will be incorporated in the promotion for the World Students Service Fund, which will take place next semester.

ANNOUNCEMENTS NEED OK
Announcements to be broadcast over the loudspeakers atop Annex B will be cleared through the Student Body Office, Hut 4, according to a policy approved Tuesday by the Board of Directors.

Only social notices cleared by Miss Mary A. Ward, dean of women, shall be approved for broadcast. The policy stipulates notices of regular meetings of campus groups will not be considered.

An official form must be filled out by the announcing group and approved in Hut 4. Raymond N. Doyle, director of radio, reserves the right to accept or reject announcements and to specify announcement times.

DEPLETING

Symphony Tickets Go Fast On Campus

State's allotment of season tickets, made available through the Symphony Forum on campus, nearly is exhausted, Ray Frisby, forum president, announced today. Prospective buyers are urged to make reservations today or Monday to insure receipt, Frisby said.

Purchasers are not limited to music students, he emphasized. Any one registered at State may attend the concert series, which will include part of the complete Beethoven cycle scheduled to be performed by the San Francisco Symphony.

Tickets are sold daily between 11:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the Music Library, Annex B. Rates include orchestra, grand tier, dress circle, $22.45; balcony circle and balcony, $15.50.

'Block Buster' Bursts Saturday

The Block S Society will sponsor its second annual "Block Buster" dance October 23 in the Women's Gym.

The dance, one of the highlights of the Homecoming game celebration, will last from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. It will feature the music of Rudy Salvini and his orchestra.

Ralph Azevedo, president of the Block S, is in charge of the decorations and ticket selling. Tickets are available from all Block S members.

Admission to the dance is 75 cents with student body cards and $1 without.

Daisie Maes, Li'l Abners Coming For Hawkins Day

Shmoos, Daisy Mae and Li'l Abner will share the spotlight Friday, October 29, when the Music Federation tosses its annual Sadie Hawkins Day Dance. Slated for the Women's Gymnasium, motif of the evening will be patterned after Al Capp's comic strip.

October 28 has been set for the "Big Race," during which five men will be chased by coeds, Hal Graubart, Fed president, announced this week.

Smith For Portola Queen

Low freshman, Donna Smith, is a candidate for queen of the Portola Festival in the Eureka Valley district. Votes may be cast by purchasing tickets from Miss Smith or Ray Darling, near the Snack Bar. Price of tickets is 25 cents each, or five for $1. Contest closes October 22.

Radio Guild to Meet

A meeting of the San Francisco State College Radio Guild will be held next Wednesday at 4 p.m. in Studio "C" of Annex B-5, it was announced by Raymond N. Doyle, instructor in Radio, this week.

'Autumn Hop' Tonight

Dancing From 9-12 In Women's Gym; Music By Salvini

With seasonal color to add to the atmosphere, the Autumn Frolic will be held tonight in the Women's Gym. Phi Epsilon Mu's annual hop will feature the music of Rudy Salvini and his orchestra.

Sportsweek will be the garb of the evening, and dancing will be from 9 to 12.

Howard Hill, dance chairman, announced the following as his assistants: Don Ellis, ticket sales; Hal Fox, floor committee; and George Albrecht, refreshments.

Guest sponsors for the evening will be Harold Harden and Paul Harvey.

The toll will be 75 cents each, with a student body card, and $1 without.

IRC SOCIAL

Tea Planned For Students

All foreign students have been invited to a tea sponsored by the International Relations Club for next Tuesday in the Activities Room between 1 and 3. This reception is designed to assist the students from abroad in establishing themselves in their new environment, according to Art Padilla, president.

Charles McClelland, instructor in history, and Mrs. Olive Cowell, professor of social science, co-sponsors of I.R.C., will greet the new students along with other members of the administration and faculty.

Twenty-six students have enrolled this semester for the first time from foreign countries. They represent eleven countries, including Japan, El Salvador, Germany and Russia.

Mr. Hugh Baker, adviser to the foreign students, will also be present. Refreshments will be served under the direction of Pat Desmond, I.R.C. vice-president.

Address By Poet Spender Booked For Wednesday

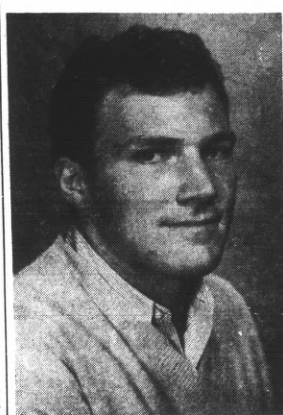

Stephen Spender, one of the ranking British poets, will speak Wednesday evening at Frederic Burk Auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Spender is one of a group of Oxford poets who have devoted themselves largely to criticism of the present social orders.

His most recent book is "European Witness." Mr. Spender will also lecture at Stanford University.

To Host Faculty Members

Barbara Tehaney, chairman of the Inter-service Organization for Women, announced that the organization will sponsor a tea Wednesday, October 27, in the Activities Room for the new members of the faculty.

MALONEY FIELD

State's Ball Park May Get New Title

State Congressman Tom Maloney will be approached by a faculty representative and a member of the Board of Directors who will ask his permission to name the Lake Merced campus baseball field Maloney Field, it was decided at the Tuesday meeting of the Board of Directors.

George Gibson, public relations director, presented this suggestion from President J. Paul Leonard to the Board, and declared that Congressman Maloney has consistently fought for State in legislative battles concerning the new campus. Mr. Maloney, a former professional baseball player, is senior member of the Ways and Means Committee in Sacramento.

Gibson also declared that Dr. Leonard has instituted a policy of allowing the students to suggest the names for the new structures, if they are facilities largely for student use, such as the gymnasiums, football and baseball fields.

Placement Report To Be Released

Alma Downey, placement secretary, announced that last year's placement report will be released in a few days. She also revealed that all but two people of last year's graduating class who received teaching credentials were placed in teaching positions.

Ellerth Larson, graduate of June '48, was placed in a job where he earns $4200 annually. This, Mrs. Downey said, is approximately $1200 above what the average teacher makes.

"A number of high school jobs come to our attention," Mrs. Downey stated, "plus a good many administrative jobs."

Petition For Franciscan

Kappa Theta, service sorority, is sponsoring Franciscan petitions which will provide for the payment of one-half of the year book, previous to publication, according to Polly Johnson and Dorothy Quinn, Kappa Theta members.

ELECTION

Drop Ballot For Officers

Balloting for class officers will culminate today a week of campaign activity. The ballot boxes, staffed by members of Bib 'n' Tucker, service sorority, will be set up in the Student Lounge area, and outside the Corrective Room. The candidates, and the classes they represent, follow:

Freshman:

For president: Ira Berman, Margie Sandy, Sol Weiner, Wallace Stasek, and Charles J. Price; vice-president: Cynthia Kowell, Mary Lee Bowman, Ann Bohigian, Josephine Tringali, Elmer Johnson, Lynn De Martini, Sue Huff, Yvonne Kallus, Jean Shanis and Nancy Yerby; secretary-treasurer: Don Johnson, Mildred Levine, Ruth Wiedenfeld, Elberta Henderson and Georgia Diacopoulos.

Sophomore:

President: Irving Palasky and Roy Ciappini; vice-president: Annie Plaat and Audrey Forney; secretary-treasurer: Alice Conroy and Carol Murphy.

Junior:

President: Anthony Matulich is unopposed; vice-president: Shirley Martin and Dorothy Bradlein; secretary-treasurer: Marian Millsich and Patricia McKee.

Senior:

Ken Shelley, Yvette Codis, and Barbara Isaacson are unopposed for the offices of president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer, in that order.

Jim Schwerdt, running for representative-at-large for the Board of Directors (less than 15 units), is unopposed for that office.

Because of the large number of candidates in the freshman race, a run-off election probably will be necessitated, since a simple majority of the votes is necessary for a candidate's election.

War Surplus Equipment To Staff New Cafeteria

"Enough equipment was received last week to almost completely staff the proposed cafeteria at the new campus," President J. Paul Leonard said Tuesday.

The equipment was made available from the federal war surplus list. According to Dr. Leonard, State has received nearly half a million dollars worth of war surplus goods. Included are desks, chairs, typewriters and scarce electric equipment for the physics lab, he stated.

'Granite' Drama Listed For December 2 Date

Franc Johnson, assistant professor of drama, will present "Granite," the first centrally staged play scheduled at State, on December 2-3 and 9-11, in the Studio Theatre, located in the Music Alley.

Tryouts were held last week.

Those cast in the four-act modern tragedy were: Yvonne Kallas as Judith; Norman Bartold as husband; Henry Spini as Prespero; Tom Klunis as Devil; Phyllis Unger as girl; and Lorin Paulson as the Minister.

Winner to Be Named On Homecoming Day

Candidates for the election of Her Royal Highness, the Homecoming Queen, have been announced, and voting is now under way. The queen-elect will reign from October 22 to 23 and will be crowned at the "Block Buster" dance after the State-Chico football game next Saturday night, in the Women's Gym.

Lake Merced Bowl To Be Dedicated David Cox Stadium

Official Naming Slated For Tilt Next Saturday

Homecoming next Saturday night on the Lake Merced campus will be highlighted by the dedication of the "David J. Cox Stadium" during half-time of the Gator-Chico State encounter.

Under the new arc lights, alumni, students, faculty and administration will pay tribute to the former dean of men who helped bring athletics to State College. Alumni officers instigated the move to name the field in honor of Dean Cox, and final approval came through in time to incorporate the ceremony with the homecoming events.

DINNER SLATED

Prior to the game the traditional Homecoming Dinner will be held at Victor's Parisian Restaurant, under the direction of Izzie Pivnick, alumni president, and the alumni board of directors. The dinner will be held from 5 to 7:30.

Included in the Homecoming Dinner agenda will be testimonials and speeches to Dean Cox by Izzie Pivnick, Dr. J. Paul Leonard, Earl Homan and others. Music will be provided by the Music Department of State under the direction of Lee Chrisman.

STUDENTS MAY ATTEND

Cost of the dinner and attendant activities will be $2.50. Students may obtain reservations by sending checks to George Mosconi, 132 Mallorca Way, San Francisco 23.

Finale of the eventful evening will be the "Block Buster" dance after the game. The dance will be held in the Women's Gym.

Men's Glee Club Searches For Additional Recruits

Additional members for the Men's Glee Club are being sought, according to Raymond L. White, associate professor of music and director of this newly organized campus group. All men who like to sing and can carry a tune are eligible, although enrollment will stop with 60, White said.

Titled Music 14, the class carries one-half unit of credit. It meets Monday, Tuesday and Thursday at noon in Westminster Chapel, Page and Webster Streets.

Health Service Survey Being Concluded Today

To ascertain what hospital facilities will be needed at the new campus, a survey of health services at the present time is being concluded today by Dr. Alvin Leonard of the State Dept. of Public Health.

Basing his study on a probable future enrollment of five or six thousand, Dr. Leonard will recommend to the State what appropriations should be made for the health center.

Earl Homan to Speak

Associated Students President Earl Homan has been asked to address the guests at the Testimonial Dinner for Mr. David J. Cox on October 23, at the Western Women's City Club.

Homan will speak, honoring Cox and expressing the gratitude of the students for his actions.

Candidates Lineup

Names of the candidates were submitted to the Student Body office, and to date here they are: Sigma Pi Sigma's candidate for queen is Patsy Elsener, blue-eyed diving champ from the Olympic Games.

Kappa Theta and Phi Eta Chi combine forces to sponsor their selection, tall, curvaceous, Barbara Isaacson.

CANDIDATES LINEUP

QUEEN TO BE ANNOUNCED

College Theatre will sponsor blonde Lois Butcher. Evie Ramstead carries the combined colors of Bib 'n' Tucker and Delta Gamma Tau. Dot Lipsey, well-proportioned drama major, represents Delta Phi Gamma, and Chris Van Heerden, sandy-haired beauty, does the honors for the Music Fed.

One vote will cost 10 cents. The queen will be announced Oct. 22.

PRODUCTION

Casting For Play Nears Completion

Casting for the modern comedy, "Personal Appearance," is nearly complete, Clarence Miller, director, announced this week. The play will be presented on the evenings of November 11, 12, 13, 18, 19 and 20 in Frederic Burk Auditorium.

The starring part, "Carole Arden," will be played by Doris Lipsey. Other members of the cast include: Nancy Cunningham, Audrey Forney, Catherine Cotter, Eleanor Webster, Marguerite Ruiz, Ralph McCombs, John Graham, C. Y. Green and William Witt. There is still one part which remains uncast.

SHOOT SEQUENCES

Shooting of film sequences for a sound motion picture to be presented as a part of the forthcoming production were started this week. Dorothy Lipsey and Bill Witt star in the only two roles of the film. The dramatic scenes directed by Clarence Miller were filmed last Sunday. Location shots were taken on the campus this week.

FILMED BY KODACOLOR

The picture was filmed in kodacolor, 16 mm. film by Cameraman Joe Franklyn. Richard Glyer acted as technical advisor for all camera work, while Julio Francescotti worked as director and designer for the sets. Mrs. Jacqueline Ogg, a new member of the drama staff, handled the costumes.

One Week Left to Procure Bus Tickets For Davis Trip

One week remains to purchase tickets for the roster buses to the State-Cal Aggie game at Davis on October 30. Buses will leave College Hall at noon on the day of the game and return at about 7:30 in the evening.

Students should purchase tickets as soon as possible to make sure there will be seats available on the buses.

The tickets, which cost $2.25, are on sale in Hut 4, and also will be sold in front of the Co-op.

Clark, Koblenz Delegates

Representing State at the California Librarians' Association convention were Miss Juliet Clark and Miss Mae Koblenz. The meeting was held in Santa Barbara from October 4 to 10. The theme of the convention was "Intellectual Freedom."

Before 1500 Students at Assembly Believe in Freedom, Says Leonard

"If we can believe in and think about freedom, then we never will die," J. Paul Leonard, president of the college, opened his address before 1500 students at the College Assembly in the Baptist Church Wednesday.

Dr. Leonard spoke on "Get On the Heavy End of the Log." He said in part that "It is the wisest thing to attempt the hardest task first, whether it be in school work or in other activities."

He said that on the heavy end of the field is less crowded, that satisfaction is more complete, and that there you come "nearer to greatness."

In commenting on the student body officers for this semester, he complimented the audience on its careful selection. He made the remark that the "Quality of student body affairs will rise no higher than you, the students and they, the officers, desire it."

Dr. Leonard concluded by saying that "A college education is on the heavy end of the log."

"In the next ten years we will either forge a pattern of peace and prosperity or annihilate ourselves," he stated.

The president was introduced by P. F. Valentine, dean of general education.

Earl Homan, president of the Associated Students, introduced the student body officers, and commented that he was "extremely gratified by the evidences of spirit this semester."

Orchestra and choral groups numbering nearly 500 participated in two numbers. Under the baton of William E. Knuth, professor of music, the last movement of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony was presented. The orchestra and chorus performed "Voice of Freedom," adapted from Rubenstein's "Kamennoi-Ostrow," by Eugene Cailliet.

ATTEND BOARD SESSIONS

Student government at State, though carried on by some very capable people, is beginning to manifest certain symptoms which we think should be called to the attention of the student body.

In a recent session of the Board of Directors, which normally constitutes one hour, almost thirty minutes were devoted to pros and cons of bulletin board procedure. In addition to the procedure being relatively unimportant, in comparison with meeting light payments and getting a Franciscan for '49, the topic had been thrashed out and written down for the record last year when five of the present board members were serving on the student government.

Another tendency of the present board is that of declaring subjects under discussion not for general information. The Golden Gater, in such cases, is requested to withhold publication of the topic. This, of course, is sometimes expedient. This term, however, is only four weeks old and there have been three items discussed, so far, labeled NFP. Only the Alumni Association suggestion that the football stadium be named in honor of Mr. David Cox was later released for student information.

Normally, the board meets once a week. The agenda this term has been lengthy and the board doesn't seem able to get around to discussing all the problems it has to solve. Last week, when George Allen gave a brief NSA report, it was suggested that a night meeting off campus be devoted to a discussion of Allen's NSA convention findings.

Before the board decides to toddle off, however, perhaps it is fitting to remind them that holding a meeting off campus would deter students not on the board from hearing discussions which concern them. If night meetings to clear away items on the agenda are necessary, why not hold them in the Activities Room, where everyone would have access to them?

There are the symptoms. We know they have not been noticed by anyone else on campus because, in spite of the fact that anyone can attend, the board always meets without an audience. Perhaps, if students took advantage of their privilege to listen in on a board session, the symptoms would gradually disappear.—E. E.

Geological Hunt Uncovers Stone Tools, Human Burial

By DOROTHY LAVEAU

For six weeks this summer Harland Kinsey and Joe Creisler, both State students, worked with Mr. Adam Treganza, department of anthropology, in the excavation of one of California's most ancient village sites. The site of the excavation is eight miles north of Santa Monica and four miles inland.

Operating on a joint research grant from the University of California at Berkeley and Los Angeles, the project marked the second season that Mr. Treganza has carried on his examination of the ancient Topanga culture. In addition to the two students from State, the excavation was aided by volunteer anthropology students from U. C. and U. C. L. A. The entire crew of 18 people camped out at the site of excavation.

STONE TOOLS DISCOVERED

The Topanga culture, as described by Mr. Treganza, stands in sharp contrast to the cultures of the historic Indians which occupied the area in later times. In the two seasons of excavations over four tons of crude stone tools were recovered, along with the remains of 15 human burials. In the main, the Topanga people had developed an economy based upon the collecting of wild plant foods.

Animals were rarely hunted and the rich, natural sea foods of the nearby coast were not drawn upon at all. Most of the stone tools collected consisted of large manos and metates used for grinding wild, gross seeds and acorns. Other tools were crude, choppers and planes. Many of these tools show a striking resemblance to the Paleolithic tools of the Old World.

ICE AGE CULTURE

The exact age of the Topanga culture is difficult to decipher, but judging by the evidence uncovered, Mr. Treganza feels it must date somewhere between 10 and 15 thousand years ago—a time in the post Pleistocene when the great ice sheets started their retreat from a greater part of the continent.

If this time can be established, the Topanga culture will be a contender for one of the earliest evidences of man on the North American continent.

Mr. Kinsey and Mr. Creisler are now continuing their studies in anthropology at the University of California. Mr. Treganza plans to publish the material this year for his Ph.D. thesis.

CATCH AS CATCH CAN

"Who Cares About Ethics? It's Leap Year, Ain't It?"

Male Shortage... Husbands Wanted

By RAOUL SOSA, Jr.

The male shortage is so acute these days that women are tossing caution to the wind and are swallowing their ethics. Or so it appears from every conceivable angle, the fourth dimension notwithstanding.

Not too long ago, for instance, you will recall, yes, you will, the unorthodox case of the young woman who was advertising, to wit: "Wanted (badly), one husband in exchange for five room bungalows—"

In the face of the housing shortage, I am sure you will agree this is hitting considerably below the belt; for a roof these days is a roof, albeit you must share it with a complete stranger. Who would say NO? Molotov? ...

THE GIMMICK, OUCH!

However, there was a gimmick to the proposition, for it seems that the aspirant had a joker up sleeve in the form of three children whom she insisted were part of the swap. Furthermore, rumors had it that she was advertising the brats in six point, which is about as small a print as the undressed eye can discern.

What goes on, Cecilia? You can't tell me love is that blind. Then there was the instance of the bachelorette who got reams of publicity when she trespassed the property of an eminent gentleman—and was refusing to budge a fraction unless it was in the general direction of the Justice of the Peace.

It was only after he compensated her with a valise containing a considerable amount of U. S. currency that the young hopeful signed the armistice and dropped the whole scheme. I suppose she's back writing letters to Cynthia.

ANOTHER CANDIDE?

The paradox of the year, however, concerns the New York widow who was soliciting in the local papers to the effect that she would take on a husband for her own on the specific condition that the prospective take $10,000 of his own and deposit same under her name at the nearest Bank of America.

Considering that the male is at a high premium—second only to used cars and meat—we naturally reasoned that it was a typographical error of the first magnitude, or that perhaps she was paying off a bet; but when we were informed that "she meant it," we ordered another one and cried buckets in it.

What would we think? Retroactive war nerves, poor soul.

'Tis an Ill Wind That Blows Good

By AL MARTINEZ

Simply because the male power of observation is sharper than the female, masculine whispers have it that the freak wind in the alley of Annex A has a peculiar effect on feminine attire.

During the course of its hilarities, the moving atmosphere creeps along the ground and adds mirth to chaos as it rises at the most inopportune times—when woman, the awe-provoking creature, comes marching along. All havoc breaks loose in the form of a struggling mass of female protoplasm.

Male voices rise in a mixed tempo of glee and horror as the stunned woman fights back with the fury of a herd of turtles. When order has been restored, and the dress has assumed its conventional position, the bewildered victim of fickle fate steals away, leaving a symposium of men with the memory of the odd occurrence.

History repeats itself again and again as the unleashed wind rips into feminine poise. Some fight the potent weather agent; others ignore it intentionally; all enjoy it.

Everything is pleasantly chaotic, and the wind continues to indoctrinate anatomy as a main topic for discussion at State. Visual education is at hand and all may attain it. Curiously enough, the makeshift class proves to be male-dominated.

P.S.: Classes will meet today in the alley of Annex A; the wind is blowing and the weather looks wonderfully awful.

JEST A MOMENT... To the Rear, March!

THE SEXES: Because her veteran husband entertained some unorthodox ideas regarding the behavior of females, a housewife is suing for separate maintenance. She charged that whenever they were out on the street, he made her walk in back of him, a custom he learned while in the occupation forces in Germany... Sounds very practical: Get thee behind me, Satan!

HUSH! HUSH! White House Harry is busy dusting off his piano and recruiting talent for his coming campaign. He was dealt a severe blow when Lauren Bacall declared she would sit this one out—but not on his piano.

PORK AND BEANS: Among the favorites to cop a blue ribbon at the coming Santa Clara County fair is a quarter of a ton of pig bearing the cognomen "Gorgeous George," same as the perfumed wrestler. So far no one has sued, which is as it should be for a couple of good-natured hams...

HAND SLAPPING CASE: With strife, corruption and political backstabbing grabbing the limelight in the news these days, a certain local daily has taken the liberty to point out to its readers a front page column entitled "Good News." And we thought it was bad manners to point.

MISSING PERSONS: Whatever happened to Clem McCarthy, the exuberant sportscaster? He was the guy who could make a golf match sound like the Dempsey-Firpo brawl. What a natural for the Republican bandwagon.

GULP: There's a guy in Buffalo, N. Y., who has set some kind of a record. According to eye witness, his wife, he siphoned some 117 bottles of beer in one week! Don't know if Tony Galento can top that, but he'd sure have barrels of fun.

SPORTS BEAT

By GORDON RADDUE

State athletics suffered a bitter blow last week when George Kamian, crack quarter miler, broke his leg in a jayvee football tilt against Commerce High. Irony was written all over the incident, for the accident occurred on a tackle that was made after the speedster had come to the end of a long touchdown jaunt. Kamian was rapidly developing into a top 440-man for Coach Ray Kaufman at the tail end of last track season, negotiating a lap on the championship mile relay team.

George Drolette, former soccer and jayvee basketball star at State, has joined the parade of ex-State athletes who presently are teaching in high schools. George is teaching P. E. classes and, of all things, is assistant football coach at Benicia High School. Drolette probably will add a touch of razzle-dazzle to the football attack, since he learned a lot of it while cavorting on some of the top intramural football teams in past years.

If anyone is skeptical as to whether State is making gains in building a more formidable football schedule this year, a glance at the records of future opponents can clarify any doubts. The Gators' November 5 opponent, Cal Poly, has only held the mighty College of Pacific eleven to a 33-13 ball game, and knocked over the consistently strong Fresno State team, 26-14. A win over the Mustangs would place State in the category of a pretty fair California Collegiate Athletic Association team, a conference that includes such schools as San Jose State and COP.

The week following the Cal Poly game, State locks bumpers with another good team, Occidental, which has shown itself a minor power by bowling over Cal Aggies, co-champion with Southern Oregon of the Far Western Conference, by a 28-0 score.

Bill Holland, first string tackle for the Gators in 1946 and '47, and seeded second on State's FWC championship tennis team in 1946, now is playing with the professional San Francisco Clippers, along with Bob Swanson, State's present backfield coach. The Clippers open their season tonight at the Oakland Ball Park, with the Hollywood Bears providing the opposition.

Jayvee Gridsters Play Twin Bill Tonight; Regulars Battle Menlo

By EARL GOLDMAN

With action aplenty promised, State's Baby Gator eleven will tackle a strong Menlo J. C. reserve squad at State Stadium tonight at 8 o'clock.

The jayvees were toppled, 14-0, by a potent Marin J. C. reserve team last Friday night in the State-Humboldt preliminary. Pass defense was decidedly the difference in the two evenings, as Menlo's tossers connected time and time again for valuable yardage over the Baby Gator secondary. Iv Edstrom played an outstanding game in the backfield, and Tom Finnegan, right guard, was a pillar of strength in the line. Coach Bill Harkness has reshuffled the line-up for tonight's game and State fans may expect to see a much stronger offense than the L'il Gators exhibited last week.

The jayvees meet Washington High at 5:45.

WAA Members In Badminton Clash With UC Maidens

By FLORA AUYONG

While participating in badminton playday, slated for this afternoon at the local gym courts, State Women's Athletic Association members will act as hostesses to the University of California Bears.

Under Miss Dorothy Brett's guiding hand, WAA shuttlecock chasers already signed up for the event are Sylvia Zeitlen, Evie Pelaton, Thelma "Sully" Hansen, Scoop Tullis, Pat Gillespie and Carrie Horvath.

A second conference group meeting is scheduled for tomorrow morning, 10 a.m. to 12 noon, when the home team will do a return trip by invading the tennis courts and swimming pool on the California campus for a net-water show.

Attempting to bring tennis singles honors to State will be squad members Shari Shurbet, Catherine Cain, Jeanne Contel, Mary Martin or Manager Helen Blount.

Chaperoning the group will be Mrs. Helen J. Ogilvie.

Doubles participants will include Barbara Tehaney, Ruth "Red" Moore, Gloria Garafalo, Terry Allen, Mary Ellen Butler and Jean Mahrt.

Conquerors of Mills College paddlers last year, Gator mermaids will bank their titular hopes on their aquatic star, Jo Foley, to lead the locals over the more experienced Bears.

Other fish fins belonging to Peg Vasquez, Joyce Brown, Maydelle Pettigill, Norine Grialou and Peggy Rombach will be put to good use.

Apostoli Speaks At Ring Meeting; Boxers See Films

A big treat is in store for boxing aspirants today at noon in Room 209, College Hall, in the person of guest speaker Fred Apostoli, former world's middleweight champion, and the showing of the films of the third Zale-Graziano slugfest.

Coach Ward Carr urges all students interested in trying out for the boxing team to attend the program, which also will feature the film, "Knockout Trail," which showcases some of the classic sleep producing blows in ring history.

Three of last season's outstanding mittmen that already have reported for the team are Sal Solina, Jack Campbell and Al Williams. A possible turnout of from 20 to 30 men is expected for the squad, with future workouts slated for Dolph Thomas' Gymnasium, training home for many of the city's top notch glove slingers.

New Football Assistants Help Boyle to Bright Year

Three of the outstanding reasons for State's upswing in the football world are Dick Boyle's new assistants, Ward Carr, Vic Martinelli and Stanley Le Protti.

Carr, in addition to his teaching in physical education and recreation, is assisting Boyle in all departments of play. After four years as a varsity halfback at Arnold College, he coached three years of high school ball, one year of Junior College at New Haven, Conn., and then returned to Arnold as head mentor.

Martinelli deserves a lot of credit for the improved showing of this season's forward wall. The linemen have taken to the teachings of the former St. Mary's guard like a kid takes to ice cream, for Vic is easy to get along with, besides knowing more than something about football.

Le Protti, who also is attending classes at State, never was a great football player, but goes under the heading of a student of the gridiron sport. He aided on Lynn Waldorf's coaching staff last year at California, and is doing a great job in a voluntary capacity as assistant line-coach to Martinelli.

Football Sign-up At All-Time High

Sign-up for flag football this term has topped all previous applications for intramural football in State history. Entries are now closed with play to get under way on both fields Monday.

Flag football received enthusiastic approval from spectators and players alike at its inaugural last week. Players claimed that they enjoyed the game more and several fans voiced their approval of the more open style of play.

The intramurals rules committee has adopted two new ground rules to eliminate roughness: 1. Elimination of on-side kick-offs, and 2. Accidental dropping of the flag by the ball carrier rules him stopped.

Adoption of flag football will increase scoring and place more emphasis on ground play.

Sign-ups for basketball, golf, tennis, ping pong and horseshoes still are open and players may enter individually or as a team. Let-terms are not allowed to participate in the sport in which they earned their block.

Soccermen Lose Berkeley Fracas

Hoping to crack the win column for the first time this season, Coach Jerry Kenney's soccerites hook up with San Francisco City College tomorrow morning at 10 in a Northern California Intercollegiate Soccer Conference game at Lake Merced Stadium.

The Gators bowed to California at Berkeley last Saturday on a wet, slippery field by a 5-2 margin. Bob Cannon, playing left wing for State, booted the first tally in two minutes of the first quarter. Pete Dalton accounted for the other point in the fourth quarter, when he made good a beautiful angle shot from the right side of the field. State has been weakened by the loss of key men from last year's team.

Wildcats-Michigan Top Weekend Tilts

Despite the Purdue-Michigan fiasco, we managed a halfway respectable six correct out of eight tries to hike our average for the season to a yet anemic 63 per cent. This is undoubtedly one of the craziest football seasons of all time, and the predictions are getting tougher all the time. This week's calls could prove disastrous, but we're still in this pitching:

Oregon Over USC—Both are hot and cold, passing elevens. The Webbs have the better air game.

Cal Over OSC—Why not make it unanimous?

Northwestern Over Michigan—This game probably will decide the Big 9 title. Although the pick isn't scientific, it could easily blow up in smoke.

Army Over Harvard—Fight 'em, Harvard!

Minnesota Over Illinois—Gophers were placed in a hole last week, should come out on top tomorrow.

Stanford Over UCLA—Half hunch, half optimism, this selection is not costing us any coppers.

State Over So. Oregon—Tide is at top pitch for this one. Just for "kicks," we'll call it 20-7.

WSC Over Washington—The fur will really fly when the Cougars and the Huskies go at it. The kitties should lose less hair in the fracas.

USF Over Oklahoma Aggies—Dons must do their bit for the Portola Festival.

Purdue Over Iowa—Boilermakers should at least prove a headache to Iowa.

Applications Wanted For Cross-Country Contention

Candidates for the cross-country team may apply by dropping a note in P. O. Box 1099 or by turning it in to the P. E. Office, Room 117, College Hall. Coach Jack Byrne announced that five or six meets with other schools will be held during the year.

"It's an excellent opportunity for athletes to condition themselves for track and field," said Byrne, in regard to the cross-country grind.

Gators Test Raider Team

Minus the services of Art Valverde, top defensive fullback, State's unbeaten eleven enplanes to Ashland tomorrow morning for an important Saturday evening tilt against Southern Oregon, defending champion of the Far Western Conference.

Valverde incurred a cracked neck vertebrae in last week's winning effort over Humboldt State that will keep him out of action for the rest of the season. Center Tony Morrow, who also was injured in the contest, will be back at his starting post tomorrow, but is not in the best of shape.

RAIDERS ROUT AGGIES

The Raiders scored an impressive 49-26 triumph last week over Cal Aggies that has given Coach Dick Boyle reason to be concerned over the outcome of tomorrow's fray, despite the fact that the Oregonians bowed to Humboldt State, 6-0, the week previous. Boyle was a witness at the latter encounter, and said that Southern Oregon actually appeared to have the better team, but were outkicked by the Axemen on a muddy field.

The Gator mentor will string along with the same starting line-up that greeted Humboldt last week, with Ray Bell and Tony Matulich at ends; Cliff Gray and Dick Peters at tackles; Jack Root and Frank Rinaldi at guards; Morrow at center; Bud Davis, quarterback, Barney Greenberg and Morry Flynn at halves, and Pete Desalernos at fullback.

BACKFIELD DEEP

Bob Kroeckel, whose left-footed kicks have averaged 41 yards per try, will be on hand for special delivery duty in the backfield, in addition to swivel-hipped Bob Keropian and passer Don Lowart. Both Kroeckel and Keropian, along with Greenberg and the piston legged Desalernos are constant breakaway threats for the Gators. Southern Oregon will employ the T formation against the Tide, featuring the passing of veteran quarterback Chuck Jandreau, who figured prominently in last year's 13-7 win over the Gators. In non-conference games, the Raiders swamped the Oregon Vocational School, 28-0, and bowed to a strong Eastern Washington eleven, 23-0, on a wet field. If it comes up muddy tomorrow, State may be in for a rough afternoon against the boys from up North, who by now should be able to thrive in the mire.

Farmer Pleased By Cage Workout; Practice Monday

Although the regular practice of Coach Dan Farmer's hoop and dribble men doesn't open until Monday, this past week was spent in informal workouts with more than 30 candidates on hand. The workouts are being held in the Women's Gym.

According to Farmer, several tall freshmen and a transfer student named Jack Shimshack were outstanding. Much to Farmer's dismay, however, was the news that Jack, due to the fact that he transferred, will be ineligible until the tail end of the season. However, Jack, a tall rangy fellow, will be around in February and all next year.

When practice really gets under full swing, Farmer, looking for capable replacements for last year's sensations, Ed Rathjen and Jack Byrne, anticipates a turnout of about 60 aspirants.

All in all, the cage mentor was rather pleased with the first workouts for the coming season, which opens November 10 in the Women's Gym against San Leandro Athletic Club.

Farmer plans to have a varsity and a junior varsity with the JVs playing the preliminaries.

'47 Linemen Rejoin Squad

Linemen from last year's varsity, "Cub" Rubio and the Miller brothers, Bill and Bob, have rejoined the football squad after a short absence.

Greenberg Passes State to Victory Over Lumberjacks

LAKE MERCED STADIUM, Oct. 8—State's Purple and Gold clad warriors made their Far Western Conference rivals "see red" tonight, as they suppressed a second half Humboldt State rally to cut down the favored Axemen, 13-7, in a game witnessed by 4500 spectators at Lake Merced Stadium. In winning, the Gators cleared their first conference hurdle successfully, and chalked up their second win of the season against no failures.

State utilized the overhead route to subdue the Lumberjacks, with Halfback Barney Greenberg doing the heaving and End Tony Matulich the receiving. After a rather sloppily played first quarter, Matulich made a "circus" catch of a 35-yard Greenberg aerial on the Humboldt 33 to set up State's first touchdown. Greenberg accounted for 13 additional yards on the next two plays with a five yard end sweep and an eight yard flip to End Ray Bell.

DAVIS GETS TD

Following a three yard plunge by Halfback Bob Kroeckel, Fullback Pete Desalernos advanced the ball on two successive carries to the one yard line, from where Quarterback Bud Davis hit the pay-off zone with a quarterback sneak. Desalernos added the seventh point with a placekick.

Greenberg put on a one-man show in the waning minutes of the first half for the game clinching tally, by intercepting a Jim Smith pass on the Lumberjack 40 and hustling it back to the 11. Two plays later, he made pass connections with Matulich in the end zone for the TD.

The second half found Humboldt fighting back desperately against a Gator line that was weakened by the loss of Tony Morrow, bulwark center, who left the game in the second period with a leg injury. The Axemen climaxed a 41-yard march in the third stanza with a 20-yard touchdown pitch from Smith to Ed Olivera. The extra point was added by Tex McKown, 220-pound fullback, whose running spurred the drive.

AXEMEN THREATEN

Later, by virtue of a fumble recovery on the State 18, Humboldt was on victory's doorstep, but a stubborn Gator line, featuring substitute Don Chabot's slashing end play, refused admittance to the Lumberjack offensive.

The magnificent punting of Kroeckel, combined with Desalernos' ripping line smashes, did a great deal to drive the nails into the victim's coffin. Kroeckel applied the coup de grace in the fourth quarter, when he uncorked a 45-yard beauty that cut the sideline marker on the Humboldt three. That placed the opposition in a hole, out of which they were unable to function effectively before the final gun.

Desalernos stole the fullback honors from the heavily billed McKown by rolling up the amazing total of 110-yards in 16 carries for a six yard plus average per gain. His total yardage on the ground missed equalling the Humboldt ground total by only four yards.

School Campaigns Must Conform to Poster Regulations

Campaign posters and bulletin board notices for student elections will be governed by the rules drawn up by the Campus Communications Committee last year, according to announcements by the Election Committee.

All candidates are limited to 10 posters, which are to be of uniform poster size. No posters will be allowed on the campus without first being approved by the Election Committee.

Pending further changes in the rules, posters and notices will be restricted to the area around the smoke porch, Annex B, on the fence opposite Annex A, and at the north end of Annex A. At College Hall, posters may appear on the north end of the stairway. The only space allotted for notices in Anderson Hall is the bulletin board inside the Buchanan Street entrance.

Labs Are Open to Expressionists

General education laboratories: reading, writing and speech, opened this week, according to A. Eason Monroe, chairman of the Division of Language Arts.

Full time or part time courses are still open. Students should register with Jack Patten, instructor, in Room 206-D. Classes are limited to an enrollment of 20 persons. One credit will be given for the completion of one full time course.

The 10 writing laboratory sections are instructed by Mr. Patten. Paul Holtzman and Robert Dietz are directing the seven speech and five reading laboratories, respectively. In addition, several graduate students are teaching in the sections.

Workshop Plays Now in Rehearsal

Drama students will present their initial workshop productions of the Fall semester on the evenings of October 28 and 29 in Frederic Burk Auditorium. Tryouts have been completed and the casts were announced this week.

The productions will consist of three one-act plays: "The Dollar," a comedy, directed by Norman Barrish. "Box and Cox," a farce, directed by Joseph Franklin. "Four On a Heath," a fantasy, will be directed by Bill Winkelman.

Sale of Cards Continues

Student body card sales will continue through the month of October, according to Treasurer Hank Marscheck. Sales to date total 2440 including those who are working for cards and those given with scholarships.

In Memoriam

DeCalvus Simonson, professor of English here for several years before and after the late war, died in the latter part of August, this year, after a long illness.

Commissioned as a lieutenant, Dr. Simonson served as an intelligence officer in the Naval Air Corps, during World War II. Before teaching here for a number of years prior to the war, he taught English at Pomona College, Redlands University and UCLA. He also had journalistic experience as a reporter and special feature writer for the Los Angeles Evening Herald, and as the Hollywood correspondent for United Press.

Dr. Simonson was a graduate of Harvard University, where he also took his master's degree. He acquired his doctorate at Stanford University.

He was stricken with a brain tumor while teaching during the 1947 Summer Session at Fresno State College.

Frosh Participate In Disc Jockey Show

As part of their recreational explorations course, approximately 15 members of the freshman class toured radio station KYA at Third and Market streets last Saturday evening.

The students witnessed the presentation of Don Pitts' "Rumpus Room" program, a popular disc jockey show, which runs from 8:10 to 10 p.m. Saturday nights. Mr. Pitts explained how his and other record programs are run, and told of the work that goes into broadcasting them. As his program features dedications, several of the students were allowed to dedicate numbers to their friends and relatives over the air.

Among those students who attended were Sol Weiner, Jackie Pult, Pat Clifford, Steve Genis, Pat Kilkeary, Bob Kling, Evelyn Barber and Rex Butler.

THE WOMEN

Keynote of Club Is Inner Service

Formation of an Inner Service Organization for women was announced by its chairman, Barbara Tehaney, this week.

The organization is composed of a representative from each of the five service sororities on campus. These are, Polly Johnson, Kappa Theta; Kathleen Schriber, Phi Lambda Chi; Norma Beltrame, Phi Epsilon Gamma; Gloria Kugler, Bib 'n' Tucker; and Miss Tehaney, Alpha Omega.

Purpose of the organization is to co-ordinate sorority service. Plans also are being made for a tea honoring new faculty women on the campus.

Vets in Project May Get New Boss

City Board of Supervisors voted this week to pass a resolution asking the State of California to take over the Veterans Housing Unit at Lake Merced campus.

Such action comes under the jurisdiction of the MacGregor Act, under the terms of which a State may take over the federally run units if application is made before October 26, and if the request is initiated by the city government.

"Such a change in management will not affect the residents of the project," said President J. Paul Leonard this week.

Former Cellist to Star In First Organ Recital

Margaret Schneider, who played cello in the orchestra last term, will give her first organ recital next Sunday at 4 p.m. at the 7th Avenue Presbyterian Church. In addition to Bach and Franck, Miss Schneider will play a number of shorter pieces. The concert is free.

Truman Discussion Set For Tuesday By Speech Group

The Speakers Bureau will present a panel discussion entitled "Is Truman the Best Qualified Candidate for President," Tuesday, at 1 o'clock in AB-2. All students are invited to attend and participate in the question period.

A spirited discussion on Thomas E. Dewey's candidacy was held on Tuesday of this week. The speakers for Mr. Dewey were Courtney Pontious and Walt Travis. The speakers against Mr. Dewey were George Allen and Ronald Richardson.

The Speakers Bureau meets in HB-2 each Wednesday afternoon at 4, and will welcome any one interested in speaking activities, including judging and research.

Staters to Show Past Year's Work

A display of the art work done by Staters will be shown tomorrow in the Activities Room in conjunction with the meeting of the Northern Section of the Pacific Arts Association.

The work on display, which was done by State students in the past year, will come from classes in oil painting, water color, life drawing, photography and designing. This general art exhibit will remain in the Activities Room for two weeks.

Capacity Crowd Enjoys Annual Hello Dance

The annual Hello Dance sponsored by Alpha Omega, service sorority, yesterday filled the Women's Gym from 1 to 2 p.m. with student body card holders. The music for the affair was provided by Rudy Salvini and his band.
